Let's try Okayama's local cuisine!

Okayama food you must try!

Welcome to Okayama. Blessed with a warm climate, fertile land, bountiful seas, and delicious food. Enjoy our local delicacies: fresh seafood, carefully farmed fruits, and wagyu beef.

Sushi/Sashimi

Traditional Japanese food is recognized as a UNESCO Intangible Cultural Heritage. Seafood is a key ingredient, and the nearby Seto Island Sea provides a rich fishing ground for sushi and sashimi. Okayama is famous for a variety of fish, from sardines to Spanish mackerel, as well as assorted seafood delicacies atop rice ("Okayama barazushi.")

Wagyu

Wagyu beef is renowned for its exquisite marbling, soft texture, and delicious flavor. Okayama produces high-quality brand beef: not only Nagi, Bicchu and Kiyomaro beef, but also Chiya beef, which is considered the origin of Matsusaka, Omi, and Kobe beef. Try yakiniku, sukiyaki, and shabu-shabu to taste it in different forms.

Fruit Parfait

White peaches, muscats, and black diamond grapes make Okayama the kingdom of fruit. Over 30 stores in Okayama offer fruit parfaits, each with unique blends. The layering of seasonal fruits and ingredients is an art form, creating flavors, sights, and smells that appeal to all the senses.

For details, please see QR code.

Sake

Traditional sake brewed from rice, koji rice malt, and water. Three major rivers flow through Okayama, blessing it with pristine water and rich soil for cultivating sake and special Omachi rice. Sake goes well with most meals, and it can be enjoyed both warm and chilled.

About Okayama Muslim Tourism

OKAYAMA Muslim TOURISM This project focuses on all inclusive tourist locations and services across three areas in Okayama Prefecture: Okayama City, Kibichuo Town, and Maniwa City. The locations and services are listed on the website below.

About the "Peach Mark"

The Peach Mark is the Muslim-friendly mark used in certified restaurants, hotels, and retail shops in Okayama City, Kibichuo Town, and Maniwa City. This mark means there is information on services and products that have features that are helpful for non-Japanese visitors such as English menus or ingredient lists, or that the restaurant offers dishes made without alcohol and pork. We have chosen PEACH as the mark because it represents the Okayama specialty. The peach is also a popular image for a hero from Japanese folklore originating from Okayama Prefecture. This hero is called Peach Boy or "Momotaro".

Enjoy Okayama's great nightlife!

Japan's culture of bars and izakayas (bars serving food) is famous the world over for its unique atmosphere, its service standards and the quality of the beverages on offer. This culture is a wonderful blend of delightfully old-fashioned Japanese traditions and cutting-edge entertainment. With their original cocktails incorporating Okayama-brewed sake and local fruit, plus the warm welcome they offer to their guests, the izakayas, bars and other eating and drinking spots that line up Okayama's nightlife have tremendous appeal for visitors.

attention!

Japanese culture "Otoshi"

When you enter a casual eating/drinking establishment serving alcoholic drinks and food in Japan (such as an izakaya), you may find that a staff member starts off by bringing you a small dish of food that you did not order. This dish is called otoshi, and is part of the culture of Japanese izakayas. When you pay at the end of your meal, the charge for this otoshi will often appear on the check, and this also covers the "table charge" for your meal.

Points to bear in mind

In or around a bar or restaurant, if there is a line of people waiting for seating to become available, please wait at the back of the line without pushing in. Pushing into lines without waiting is against the rules.

If you make an advance reservation, please be on time. If you are going to be late, please contact the restaurant and inform them of your arrival time.

Smoking rules in Okayama City

Smoking in indoor facilities is prohibited in Japan as a general principle. In addition, smoking is also prohibited in some outdoor places, depending on the location. Please be aware of the rules concerning smoking during your trip, to ensure your own comfort and that of those around you.

The rules concerning smoking at restaurants and other commercial facilities can vary depending on the facility in question; please confirm with the staff if smoking is permitted or not.

There are designated no smoking zones within Okayama City. No. 62161. No. 62162. No. 983616.
